Our Stallion Progeny Contract

1. www.?????.com

Decide on a name for your website. Let us know a few choices, and we will check availability. We can decide the final name later in the design process, so think about it as you go on to Step 2.

5. Additional Text

Do short (or long) writeups for the additional pages in your outline.

2. The Outline Becomes Your Menu

Write a basic outline for your website. Not only will this help organize your thoughts and progress later, but each item will be a button on your website.

- A. Home Page
- B. Stallion
 - 1. About the stallion
 - 2. Stallion Progeny
 - 3. Contract
- C. Mares
- D. Sales
- E. Links
- F. Photos
- G. About Us
- H. Email

Send this information to SEQUITARY and we will begin.

This sample is for a Stallion website. Please create an outline suited to your business.

3. Colors & Preferences

Think about possible Color Combinations. Visit competition websites and write down the things you like, and the things you don't like. We'll use this list to design the background and menu for your new website.

4. Gather Photos & Logo

All websites need visual aids. Regardless of the business you are in, some sort of photography is a great addition.

Gather all the photos you want included on your website. Think about which page in your outline will get what photos. If you have a logo already, send it to us.

If you do not have a logo, don't worry, we'll make one for you.

Send your photos and logo to SEQUITary. It works well if you attach your photos to an email and then show the corresponding page name from your outline as the subject line. This is to let us know where to put those photos. Send different emails for each page.

6. The Fun Part

While you are busy gathering photos, we will be busy creating the background and navigation system of your website within the guidelines you provided (steps 1, 2 and 3). We will provide you with a private link to the pages in progress. As we add your photos you will be able to watch as your website comes together. You can view, comment and change until everything looks exactly the way you want it to.

7. GO LIVE!

Once the whole website is complete, and everything is just the way you want, you then tell us, "GO LIVE" and we will put your new website on your domain.

It's really just that simple when you have SEQUITary designing a website for you!
